ZIMMERMAN'S HAND IS DISCOVERED IN LATEST INTRIGUE

Documentary Evidence Proving Hindoo Doctor And German Reservist, Ernest Sekunna, Had Obtained Sanction of German Foreign Minister, Will be Presented to Federal Jury.

ZIMMERMAN BEHIND PLOT TO LAUNCH REVOLUTION AMONG NATIVES OF INDIA

New York, March 8. — (Associated Press Dispatch)—Documentary evidence purporting to show that Dr. Chandre Chakrabarty, a Hindoo, and Ernest Sekunna, a German chemist, arrested here in connection with an alleged plot to foment revolution in India, had been in communication with the German Foreign Office, and that their plans had the approval of Dr. Alfred Zimmerman with recommendations that financial aid be given certain intriguers in this country, will be laid before the Federal Grand Jury, it was learned from Government officials when the jury today resumed its investigation into German plots.

Among the papers seized by the police in the home of Dr. Chakrabarty, it is alleged, is a document bearing the address "76 Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin," the office of the Foreign Secretary.

This evidence is considered highly important by the federal authorities. In addition to these papers, others that were seized in the Wall Street office of Wolf von Igell, who accompanied Count von Bernstorff back to Germany, will be presented to the Grand Jury, it was said, as evidence of a connecting link in the general plot against Great Britain.

HARMONY FEATURES TODAY'S SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE

The Filibuster Ended When a Score of Republican Bills Go Into Hopper

Columbus, O., March 8. — Carrying out an arrangement made last night between Governor Cox and Republican Floor Leader Frank Riegner, the House agreed to by the Republican caucus, the Lower House of the General Assembly proceeded harmoniously today to expedite the work of the session, in striking contrast to the filibustering scenes on the floor of the House yesterday and last night. The Republicans were satisfied today when the House Steering Committee, under the direction of the Governor, placed twenty Republican bills on the calendar. Every other bill considered today was a Republican measure. The House today adopted the Moon resolution, providing for recess on March 10 instead of today, as originally planned, but amended the resolution.

DARCY'S REQUEST IS TURNED DOWN

Albany, N. Y., March 8. — A personal appeal by Les Darcy, the Australian boxer, that Governor Whitman reconsider his decision not to permit the fighter to appear in the ring in New York State because he had evaded military duty in his own country, was refused by the executive today.

lution, fixing the date of the final adjournment March 21 instead of March 20. The members will return here on March 20.

Upon motion of Representative Billingslea, of Butler county, the House voted today to relieve the Public Utilities Committee of the Davis Bill, requiring long distance telephone lines to furnish toll line connection with all local exchanges, and place the bill on the calendar.

The House defeated the Kimball bill, to relieve mortgages from taxation and provide for the payment of a fee of one half of one per cent when mortgages are filed for recording.

SOLONS TAKE UP CLOTURE

Washington, March 8. — The cloture amendment to the Senate rules approved by both Democratic and Republican caucuses was taken up by the Senate today by unanimous consent.

EXTRAORDINARY PRECAUTIONS TAKEN WHEN PRESIDENT IS INAUGURATED

PRESIDENT WILSON HEADS INAUGURAL PARADE

Not since the first inauguration of Abraham Lincoln, fifty-six years ago, have there been such precautions as were taken to guard the life of an incoming president of the United States. Secret service men, troops of the regular army, detectives and policemen formed a hollow square about President Wilson as he rode to and from the capitol building. The roofs of buildings overlooking Pennsylvania avenue were guarded by plain clothes men.

The men of the Sixty-ninth and Twelfth regiments, N. Y. N. G., lined Pennsylvania avenue from the capitol to the White House. Their guns were loaded.

The guardsmen stood about twenty paces apart.

The president literally rode to the capitol and back again through a lane of armed men. Surrounding the president's carriage, drawn by four horses, were thirty-two secret service men. Supplementing these guards and outside the ranks of secret service men were troops of the Second cavalry, stationed at Fort Myer. Fifteen troopers rode abreast at the head of the carriage and as many more immediately behind. A half dozen troopers in single file rode nearer the curbing on each side of the president's carriage.

Nearby, closely following the president, were twenty-five plain clothes policemen from Washington and other cities.

Special guards with loaded rifles and authority to act were stationed on the roofs of buildings overlooking the line of march. That extraordinary precautions as the guarding of roofs had been taken did not become generally known until the parade was actually formed.

FIFTH VICTIM OF EXPLOSION

Cincinnati, O., March 8. — Another victim, the fifth of the explosion at the Ford assembling plant, Lincoln Avenue, died at the Bethesda Hospital early today.

He was Edward Scofield and died of burns, being the third of those injured to die from that cause. The remaining two died from fractured skulls.

BATTLE NEAR FIFTY MILES FROM BORDER

San Martin Ranch Picked for Clash—U. S. Soldiers Ready to Cope With Any Surprise Raid.

By Associated Press Dispatch. Juarez, Mexico, March 8. — Mexican de facto and rebel forces are said to be approaching each other today in the vicinity of San Martin ranch, fifty miles southeast of Juarez and a battle is believed to be imminent.

General Jose Murgula and General Gonzales left Juarez late yesterday in an automobile for the San Martin ranch district, followed by 400 soldiers.

In all, the two commanders expected to have a force of over 500 to engage the Villa band, said to number about 400.

47 VESSELS ARE VICTIMS

(Associated Press Cable.) Berlin, wireless to Sayville, March 8. — The Admiralty made the following announcement today: "Twenty-one steamships, ten sailing vessels, and sixteen fishing craft, with an aggregate gross tonnage of 191,000, have been sunk recently by Germans."

gauge the Villa band, said to number about 400.

Government officials refuse to discuss the new orders.

BRITISH ERRED IN NOT ATTACKING ON BOTH LAND AND SEA

Dardanelles Investigation Ends and Commission Reports Enterprise Met Disaster When Fleet Was Not Supported by Simultaneous Land Attack—Kitchener's Work is Mentioned.

COMMISSION FAILS TO FIX BLAME FOR GREAT BLUNDER IN ENGLISH STRATEGY

THE CHINESE DEFICIT TENS OF MILLIONS

(Associated Press Cable.)

Peking, China, March 8. — Estimates of the deficit in the Chinese national treasury for the year 1916 vary from $40,000,000 to $70,000,000 gold. Official figures are lacking, as it is practically impossible to get even approximate statements from the various branches of the government.

An unofficial report shows that the land tax for 1916 produced over $39,000,000 gold, while like, or interior duties, yielded over $31,000,000 gold.

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, March 8. — The majority report of the commission appointed last July to investigate the Dardanelles campaign, which was held up for a fortnight by the decision to expurgate certain sections referring to Allied countries, was made public this morning in its revised form.

The commission reports that the late Lord Kitchener, then Secretary for War, favored the project, and that when he gave a decision in the War Council it was invariably accepted as final.

The dispatch of troops to the East was delayed three weeks, the report says, as the result of a decision of Lord Kitchener which was not communicated to the then First Lord of the Admiralty, Winston Spencer Churchill.

The project was undertaken on the initiative of Colonel Churchill.

The commission reports that naval advisers would have preferred a joint military and naval attack instead of the attack by the fleet alone, and declares that these views should have been heard by the War Council, which was not justified in coming to the decision without a much fuller investigation.

The possibility of making a surprise attack by land and water offered such great military and political advantages, the commission finds, that it was ill-advised to sacrifice this possibility by deciding hastily to undertake a purely naval attack which, from its nature, could not attain completely the objects desired.

The subject has been a difficult one the commission reports, on which to reach definite conclusions regarding the relative degree of responsibility and the amount of praise and blame which may reasonably be assigned to the principal authorities concerned.

GOMEZ NOW IN HAVANA

Havana, Cuba, March 8. — Secretary of the Interior Hevia arrived at Havana at 9 o'clock this morning, bringing with him ex-President Jose Miguel Gomez; Colonel Quinones, the former military chief at Camaguey; Captain Juan Izquierda, and several lieutenants of the insurgent forces, who were captured in battle yesterday near Pinar.

General Gomez, the rebel leader, was placed in the presidio, and the others were taken to the Cabanas fortress.

CLEVELAND NOW FACES BIG STRIKE

All Peace Overtures Fail, and Strike Next Week Is Indicated.

Cleveland, O., March 8. — It was admitted today by both sides that all peace overtures in the building trades lockout and the strike have failed.

Charles Smith, Building Trades Council business agent, said today many of the union men are going to work on jobs of no-association employers.

William F. Hennessy, secretary of the Employers' Association, said today his organization had not yet begun to fight.

It is reported that a general lockout of all locals belonging to the Building Trades Council may come next week.

Thomas H. Mugavin, of Cincinnati, secretary of the Ohio State Building Trades Council, here to assist in the fight, last night told Cleveland Federation of Labor members that union building employees in other cities of the taste where members of the Cleveland Building Trades Employers' Association have construction jobs, will declare a sympathetic strike if work is attempted on contracts.

ARRESTED FOR STARVING WIFE

Columbus, O., March 8. — Wanted in Chillicothe for starving his wife a short time ago, William Scott, aged 39, colored, was arrested here last night by detectives and will be turned over to the authorities of that city.

SISTER CLAIMS A DRUNKEN ROW CAUSED MURDER

Mrs. Marie Little Relates Sordid Story of How Her Illicit Lover Killed Her Brother.

The star witness of the Harvey Jacks murder trial, now under way in Circleville, was Mrs. Marie Little, sister of Thomas Waldren, the murdered man, who told a sordid story of events leading up to the murder.

The woman told of her relations with the prisoner, whom she declared she still loves. She had corresponded with and visited the accused man since he has been confined in the Pickaway county jail.

During the course of her testimony the Little woman declared Jacks appeared at her brother's home on the evening preceding the murder. He was drinking heavily. A quarrel ensued over the man coming to see Mrs. Little, Waldren's sister. Later the two men indulged freely in "Old Coon" and "Old Cannon" whiskey.

"I was sitting on Jacks' lap when he showed me a revolver. I asked him what he was going to do with it, and he said he was going to kill Tom," declared the woman.

The substance of the remainder of the woman's story follows: "The men then went outside of the house and had some words. Jacks came back with his face all covered with blood and my brother followed him in and hit him several times in the face. 'Don't do that Tom,' said Jacks. 'Don't you see what condition I am in.' Jessie got a pan of water and when we washed the blood from his face. They stayed in the house a while and drank some more whiskey. I drank two tablespoons of the stuff and it made me sick and I had to leave the room.

"The men went out the second time and started toward the gate. We heard three shots ring out and my sister-in-law yelled, 'Oh, my husband is shot,' and ran out of the house. I followed and saw my brother trying to get the gun away from Jacks. My sister was helping and she had hold of his wrist that held the smoking revolver. 'I didn't shoot, did I?' said Jacks to Tom. 'I was shooting in the air,' he told Mrs. Waldren. Tom came into the house—and lay on the floor of the kitchen and Mrs. Waldren ran over to a neighbor to call a doctor."

SENIOR CLASS RINGS AND PINS ARRIVE

The Seniors of the High School are now in possession of their class rings. They are very beautiful in design, being made of old gold and having the word Washington inscribed diagonally across the face of the ring with "H. S." in the lower corner and "17" in the upper corner.

However, some of the rings are not entirely satisfactory, the engraved plate not fitting evenly with the base of the ring. The class pins however are quite satisfactory and the rings are to be changed within the next few days. The Auld Co., of Columbus has the contract.

THIRD SERMON OF SERIES IS GIVEN BY DR. M'ELFRESH

The third of the series of sermons by former pastor of Grace M. E. church, Wednesday night, was delivered by Dr. Franklin McElfresh, Superintendent of the Zanesville District Ohio Conference.

Dr. McElfresh's appearance here is of particular interest as it was largely through his efforts that the present magnificent edifice of Grace church was erected, and during the course of his strong discourse he referred to the scenes attending the tearing down of the old church steeple, removal of the old church, and the erection of the present building.

Dr. McElfresh was greeted by a large audience and close attention was given his every utterance.

The keynote of his sermon was Loyalty, and he impressed upon his audience, and particularly the new converts, the necessity of loyalty to Christ.

Two additional services are to be held, one tonight and the closing one on Friday night, and Rev. Thomas W. Locke and Rev. Frederick E. Ross are the two remaining ministers who will conduct services, but no announcement has been made which will preach tonight.

In the course of his remarks, Dr. McElfresh said:

"The soldier fights for the sake of the citizen. It is only because the rights of the citizen are so precious that is worth while to march to the battlefield.

"We are living in quiet times of peace and plenty. We are called upon for heroic living, for a type of loyalty as true and faithful as that which we see in Paul's devotion.

"The great expression of loyalty is through prayer. I am pleading with every young Christian and with every old one, too, to find a first hand knowledge—a personal acquaintance with God."

"A fourth expression of Christian loyalty is through fidelity to the Christian church.

"Without the school house education would perish—without the home the family would be scattered—without the church, religion would be lost.

"My plea is for the life of sacrifice, which offers time and money of the altar of the church for the sake of a Christian America. The highest patriotism—the one that truly reaches the American ideal—is Christian patriotism and that can only be sustained and nourished through the Church of Jesus Christ.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY INDICTS THREE MEN ON ALLEGED SPY CHARGES

Albert A. Sanders, Charles W. Wunnenberg and George Vaux Bacon were indicted by the federal grand jury in New York which for five days had been investigating the alleged spy plot in which American newspaper men were said to have been sent to England to make observations for the German government. The three are accused of setting on foot a military enterprise against Great Britain. Sanders and Wunnenberg pleaded not guilty. Their attorney, Charles A. Oberwager, intimated that he would demur from the indictments. Bacon is held in England on an espionage charge. Sanders and Wunnenberg are out on $5,000 bail each. It was intimated that indictments against other persons also had been found, but only the three were filed. Picture shows Wunnenberg on his way to court.

OBITUARY

Charles Alvin Crooks was born March 22th 1859, in the southern part of Fayette County, near Greenfield, Ohio. He was the son of Samuel and Nancy J. Crooks, and was the oldest in a family of three children. His brother Will Crooks, and sister Belle Crooks survive him.

These children were bereft of parental care in childhood. When Charles was but four years of age his mother was taken from the home, and his father died of wounds he had received in the civil war, when this son was 11 years of age. The family however was held together by two great aunts, Margaret and Rebecca Limes, who reared them to manhood and womanhood.

One of the most beautiful tributes to the life of Charles Crooks was his unstinted devotion to these benefactors throughout the remainder of his life.

They remained a part of his household and enjoyed every loving ministrations within his power until their death, the older passing away about two years ago at the age of 92 years.

He prepared himself for teaching school, and spent many years of his life in that work, having taught school in many parts of Fayette County, and in Washington C. H. schools.

In this work, as in all the affairs of his life, he was deeply concerned with the responsibilities of his task; and no teacher ever carried more constantly and fervently the best interests of his pupils in his mind and heart than did Charles Crooks.

He had lived in Washington C. H. Ohio for the past 23 years and on the 22nd day of July 1909 he was married to Miss Bertha Gardner of this city, who with his brother and sister most keenly feels the loss of loving husband and brother.

Charles Crooks was a devout Christian. He had in his youth attended Sabbath School and Church service at the Presbyterian church in Greenfield, and during the pastorate of Dr. J. L. McNair united with the Presbyterian Church of Washington C. H., Ohio. He was especially active in the interests of the Brotherhood Class and his words of tenderness and truth, his love for sacred song and fervent prayer, will long be cherished among the memories of this class. He was greatly interested in the Bromley Tabernacle Meetings, at the commencement, but illness precluded his great desire to be a part of that campaign.

His lodge affiliations were with the Modern Woodman of America, but the spirit of fraternalism that permeated his life was broader than any secret order. He believed strongly in the universal brotherhood of man, that bound each member as his "brother's keeper," and that measured responsibility and duty to mankind by all the needs of the less fortunate in life.

He was sympathetic in his nature, and his being revolted at injustice and wrong. He had scrupulous regard for the feelings of others and the golden rule was the standard of his thoughts and words, lest some unguarded shaft might wound the feelings of a brother.

The loss of a life like this is not only felt by family and close friends, but the community misses the sterling principles for which he stood, whenever a true example of Christian manhood is called by death. Truly however, can we say that he lived and passed away in keeping with the spirit enjoined by the poet when he said: 'So live, that when thy summons comes to join The innumerable caravan, that moves To that mysterious realm, where each shall take His chamber in the silent halls of death. Thou go not like the quarry slave at night, Scourged to his dungeon, but, sustained and soothed By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave, Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our heartfelt thanks for the many kindnesses shown by neighbors and friends during the illness and death of our husband and brother—also for the beautiful flowers received.
Mrs. Chas. A. Crooks, Belle Crooks, W. L. Crooks.

MOTHER DIES
Thomas Ambrose, of this city, Wednesday morning, received word that his mother, Mrs. Matilda Ambrose, of Darbyville, passed away early Wednesday morning at the age of 85 years.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, from the M. E. church in Darbyville.

Washington, D. C., March 8.—Two specialists held a consultation in the case of former Congressman Nelson E. Matthews of the Fifth Ohio district, who is very ill of heart trouble at his apartment in the Burlington Hotel. His condition is considered very discouraging.

When Shirts and Ties like ours get together there's sure to be a lot of wearing pleasure for any man, for we have been very particular that their colors harmonize. The Shirts are fast color and properly made of silks, mixtures and cottons. The Ties won't twist out of shape when you knot them—they slip easy too.

This spring's clothes for boys are certainly good-looking. The youngsters will like them because they're styles taken from the men's models—parents will look at the clothes—the clothes and the price, and be satisfied, too.

State of Ohio, Executive Dept.
Columbus, O., March 5, 1917.
Miss May M. Duffee,
Washington C. H., Ohio.
My Dear Miss Duffee:

Thank you for submitting verses for a suggested Ohio song. I appreciate the interest which prompts you sending this, and also the fine, patriotic spirit of the accompanying letter. With very good wishes, I am, Very truly yours,
JAMES M. COX.

The verses submitted by Miss Duffee follow:

OHIO.
(Dedicated to Gov. Jas. M. Cox)
Ohio is the state for me,
The land of the good old buckeye tree.
The men are brave, the women fair,
The Buckeye's are known everywhere.
They fill the offices of state,
And in everything they are up to date.
The world is better for this state,
Long live Ohio.
CHORUS—
Ohio, Ohio, I love her rocks and rills,
Ohio, Ohio, with beautiful vales and hills.
To her we owe allegiance true
Because we know what she can do.
Whenever she's put to the test,
She will always do her very best.
God bless dear old Ohio.

Ohio's men are brave and free,
They show the world what they can be.
They're not afraid to do and dare,
You'll find the Buckeyes everywhere.
For themselves they will create
Names that are found among the great.
Long live Ohio.

Among her sons you will find the name
Of men who appear in the temple of fame.
There are warriors bold and statesmen great
Who all come from the Buckeye state.
If the call to arms to her is made
You will find that her men will not be afraid.
Long live Ohio.

The Chain Letter

This week a merchant received a chain letter—a letter designed in this case to raise a fund to buy chloroform for use in surgical work in the war hospitals in Europe. The letter recited the tortures being borne by soldiers requiring surgical treatment because of the lack of anaesthetic.

The recipient of the chain letter is requested to send 24 cents to a certain address in New York City and to make four copies of the letter and send them to friends of his.

Now the fund may be alright. The persons behind its construction may be quite sincere. And wounded soldiers may be benefitting. But to anyone who sits down and figures out the possibilities of this chain letter it is apparent that its success would furnish enough chloroform to supply every human being in the world for a lifetime, with enough change left over to buy a good sized kingdom.

The copy received by the local man was numbered in one corner "142." The four copies he was requested to send out he was asked to number "143," and so on.

Those who remember the horseshoe nail multiplying calculation contained in the old arithmetics will appreciate this.

The first letter sent out represents 24 cents. This letter begets four more—or No. 2 brings in four times 24 cents, or 96 cents. Letter No. 3 reaches sixteen persons, and so on. When the chain reaches No. 10, supposing there is no break, 85,000 persons have been reached and a total of something over $21,000 secured.

The goal is 500. How much money this represents, you can figure for yourself. The scheme is not necessarily dishonest. But one can't help realizing that the temptation would be great for anyone not overburdened with conscience.

The Spirit of Patriotism

George W. Perkins may not have achieved success as a president-maker, but he is showing a splendid spirit of true patriotism in his recent acceptance of a state position upon the understanding that he would accept no salary nor take anything in the way of expenses.

He was appointed at the head of the department of agriculture, foods and markets for the state of New York, a position which will make heavy demands upon his really valuable time. Yet he would serve only upon the conditions—no salary, no expense money.

The action of Mr. Perkins calls attention to the fact that there are men serving their states at this time without the incentive of large remuneration and often at a positive sacrifice of big business interests. Any number of leaders of the federal government, cabinet members, heads of departments and bureaus could command much more than they are being paid. They are frequently men who have resigned positions of honor and high salary at the call of the government, knowing that the country needs the able men and those capable of the highest service.

Others have responded to various calls for public service less in the limelight, giving the same trained efficiency which would bring greater returns in regulation business channels.

The spirit of patriotism is often found in this unselfish and frequently prosaic shouldering of such duties.

Rivals Zeppelin in Slaughter

One would hardly consider a motor-bus in the deadly class of the Zeppelin, yet the statement was recently made in the British House of Commons that the motor-bus has killed 954 persons in London since the beginning of the war, while Zeppelin bombs have only 137 victims accredited to their activities.

Of course air-raiding is primarily the cause of the motor fatalities. The darkening of the city to baffle the air attacks of the enemy, while a necessary defense, has augmented the casualties of peace.

Quietly making its rounds, unobtrusive and quite the opposite of the spectacular and daring Zeppelin, yet the motor-bus picks its victims until in the end it claims a brigade where the airship has only taken a company.

The exploits of the Zeppelin are sensational and extolled in print, but more helpless women and children are slaughtered by the clumsy, unromantic motor-bus than by the great, daring bird of the air which has so terrified the people.

Whether or not Germany has reckoned upon such an unwilling colleague, the motor-bus is killing more non-combatants than the vaunted aerial destroyers.

Poetry For Today

THE LITTLE BRONZE BUTTON
(Air "Old Oaken Bucket")

How dear to the heart of each gray-headed soldier,
Are the thoughts of the days when we still wore the blue
While memory recalls every trial and danger
And scenes of the past are brought back to his view.
Though long since discarding our arms and equipments,
There's one thing a veteran most surely will note;
The first thing he sees on the form of a comrade,
Is the little bronze button he wears on his coat.

Chorus—The little bronze button
The sacred bronze button
The Grand Army button
He wears on his coat.

"How much did it cost?" said a man to a soldier,
"That little flat button you wear on your coat?"
"Ten cents in good money" he answered the stranger.
"And four years of marching and fighting to boot"
The wealth of the world cannot purchase this emblem,
Except that the buyer once wore the brave blue;
And it shows to mankind the full marks of a hero
A man who to honor and country was true.

Tremendous, awful, unthought of privation,
Endured by the Soldiers who fought in the war,
Declare in a measure the cost of the button,
As paid for in starving, in wounds or in scars.
Antietam, Malvern Hill, Franklin or Vicksburg,
Gettysburg, Shiloh or Petersburg mine
All tell of the cost of the Grand Army button
Made out of the cannon we took from their line.

Then let us be proud of the little bronze button
And wear it with spirit both loyal and bold;
Fraternally welcome each one who supports it,
With love in our hearts for the comrades of old
Each day musters out whole battalions of wearers,
And soon will be missed the token so dear
But millions to come will remember with honor
The men who'd the right that bronze button to wear.
—J. W. Hanks, Jackson, Ohio.

In Social Circles

The home of Mrs. Ed Darlington presented a unique scene Wednesday afternoon when the women of Sugar Grove W. C. T. U. gathered in garments "tattered and torn" for a "Poverty Social."

The various unions of the county had been asked to hold this kind of a social the first Wednesday in March with the double purpose of showing conditions produced by drink and in having an out of the ordinary session.

While the program impressed the lesson, the affair was made merry with startling and amusing "rags" and the clever way in which the hostess carried out the poverty idea.

If it was a "hard time" lunch it was a mighty good one of baked beans, bread and butter, doughnuts and coffee, and tin pans and cups and kitchen forks and knives used in its serving added to the hilarity.

Mrs. Laura Pine won first prize, a pound of beans, for the best costume and Mrs. Belle Marine second, a large potato.

The program included a very pretty piano solo by Mrs. A. C. McCoy; paper, "A Parental Curse," by Mrs. Maude Anderson; an original presentation of "Advantages and Disadvantages" in the broad field of everyday life, was given by Mrs. Augusta Haines.

Miss Juanita Haines delighted the group of women with a humorous reading "Miranda on Widdlers."

Mrs. Florence Porter and Mrs. Bess Laum were added to the membership roll.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Grace M. E. Church held the regular monthly meeting Wednesday at the handsome home of Mrs. Noah Smith.

There was a good attendance and a great deal of interest shown in regard to the Mid-Jubilee Meetings in seventy cities. These meetings are soon to be held. They are to celebrate the mid-way of the five year Jubilee. An excellent program in charge of Mrs. Frank Kennedy, was presented.

PROGRAM

Piano solo—by Miss Annette Stafford Reading—by Mrs. Scott Hopkins—"Protestant Epoch of Christian Conquest Chapter IV"

Vocal solo—by Mrs. Larrimer, Miss Stafford, accompanist.

Mrs. Kennedy closed the program with a very interesting and instructive reading and there were fine remarks by Rev. Cherrington.

A delightful social hour followed during which refreshments were served.

The hostess was assisted by Mesdames Stafford, Foster and Foreman.

Mrs. Walter Ellis gave pleasurable entertainment to the Thursday Kensington club this afternoon.

Mrs. Charles Sellers, of Dayton, was an out of town guest.

The Young Matrons Bridge club enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Alexander H. Ballard Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Fred West entertained at a charming little dinner Wednesday evening. Misses Edith Gardner, Bess Cleveland, Louise Larrimer and Lizzy Ellen Green.

Pink sweet peas were in artistic arrangement in the center of the table.

The dinner was in compliment to Miss Gardner and her voice pupil, Miss Larrimer, and was followed by an evening of music.

DELIGHTFUL MEETING PATRONS AND TEACHERS

A most delightful mingling of the patrons and the teachers of the Sunnyside school and a number of appreciative visitors was the meeting of the Sunnyside Parents-Teachers Club Wednesday evening.

A large crowd was in attendance and the evening proved an ideal gathering of persons drawn together by a mutual interest—the love of little children.

In the absence of the president, Mr. Ed. Eto, the vice president, Mrs. Harry Sprenger presided at the meeting.

The club was most fortunate in securing Miss Anna Laura Sutton as a speaker for the evening.

Miss Sutton's lecture on the Biography of the Fly, illustrated with terropteran views brought a realization of the vital importance of the health campaign now being started in this city.

Her utilitarian suggestions along her line of home gardens and the cultivation of vacant lots, if carried out, are expected to prove most helpful in these days of "war prices."

Following Miss Sutton's lecture, Miss Agnes Kerrigan again read her paper presented at the October meeting on the subject of "The Child in Playland."

Mrs. Minnie Browne, principal of the school gave a talk on the interest that has been shown by the school children in the care of the birds and announced that at the next meeting in April, a number of bird houses made by the pupils of the school will be exhibited and that a small prize is offered for the best model.

A committee composed of Mr. Wm. Swartz, Mr. John Ferguson, Mr. Harry L. Jacobs and Mr. Charles Cramblitt was appointed to take up the matter of securing equipment for the children's play ground.

The club is greatly indebted to Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. Voordenfelt for the beautiful music of the evening, a number of piano duets and a vocal solo by Mrs. Boyd being much enjoyed.

A silver offering contributed to a fee little balance in the treasury.

D. OF A. MEETING

The Daughters of America will not hold their weekly meeting tonight, but will hold regular meeting next Thursday evening, March 15th.

THE BIRTH OF A NATION

The first presentation of D. W. Griffith's gigantic military spectacle "The Birth of a Nation" will be given at the Victoria Theater, Dayton, on Friday night, March 16th.

Following this appearance there will be two performances daily including Sunday. The matinees will start at 2:30 p. m. and the night performance at 8:15 o'clock. Owing to the extraordinary interest that centers in this engagement the management of the attraction has completed arrangements with Manager Miller of the Victoria Theater, Dayton, to pay special attention to mail orders of patrons from cities and towns in this section of the state.

It is next to impossible to describe "The Birth of a Nation" in a way that gives one a grasp of its bigness. Imagine a stage twelve miles wide and as deep as the eye can penetrate. Up on this field are thrown vast armies showing the making of history in its rough and virile form. Across your view flash nearly twenty thousand players who make the history of our most stirring periods of national development live, while three thousand horses mounted by the most daring riders in the country play their part in the unfoldment of an intensely dramatic story.

For its basic theme "The Birth of a Nation" deals with the relationship of the slavery question to American history. Mr. Griffith has created a new art to embrace the intensely impressive periods of our development. No stage was ever large enough to crowd one tenth of this into its confines, so he took his drama into the open country and there produced in detail the high lights of this great country's enlargement. He begins by showing the advent of the first negro slave into the colonies. Then his narrative leaps to the days of anti-slavery agitation and the first rumblings are heard of that internecine strife which later plunged the country into war. President Abraham Lincoln looms large in this story and with the signing of the first call for volunteers to put down the rebellion the war begins. You follow Griffith's impelling details forward through the memorable battle fields of the South. You see Sherman's mighty army move to the sea and leave ruin and desolation in its wake. Entire cities which were built in exact copy of the originals are burned and destroyed. Grant and Lee meet in the final struggle before the trenches of Petersburg and here is given in historical accuracy the thrilling details of that last stand of the Confederacy. Lee and Grant sign terms of peace at Appomattox and the armies turn back to their homes to take up the work of repairing the damages done. Then comes the next tragic step, the assassination of President Lincoln and the sad days for the south when adventurers from the North rushed in to attempt to complete by political chicanery what was not accomplished by the scourge of war. The negro question still lacking any semblance of a solution remains a menace and the Klu Klux Klan springs into being with its initial purpose outlined in action. The excitement grows intense. At last there comes a better understanding and the allegory of peace and national unity reveal the birth of a greater nation that goes forward to its fuller destinies.

In this fabric of history and startling facts is woven a drama of romance and strife and comedy and stirring action. It is a story unlike anything ever attempted in the theater before. For his emotional messenger Griffith depends upon an orchestra of forty pieces to tell in the music of the day the heart longings and the hopes and hatreds of those who made our history. Every detail is fitted to the action and so closely are the two knit together that one is dependent upon the other and it is difficult to say which lends the fuller power to the impressions made. It possesses every element of appeal that makes the theater the popular institution it is. Over 50,000,000 people on four continents of the world have paid the tribute of approval to its greatness. For the Dayton engagement at the Victoria the same wonderful production which ran two years in New York and a year in London will be given in every detail. The theater itself has been carefully gone over by Griffith's staff of technical experts and every thing necessary to make the presentations as perfect as human ingenuity can devise will be noted in the offering.

The daily matinees will be a feature of distinctive interest to visitors to the city. For these matinees the prices will be 25cents, 50 cents, 75 cents and $1.00. For the nights the prices will be 25 cents, 50 cents, $1.00 and $1.50.

MEXICO MUST WORK OUT HER OWN PROBLEMS

Troop Movements Along the Border Seem to Indicate a Fixed Determination by the Administration Not to Mix in Mexican Affairs.

BORDER STATE RESIDENTS SATISFIED WITH PROGRAM

Editor of the Herald, Now in El Paso, Writes of Present State in Which Mexico Seeks to "Find Herself."

El Paso, Texas.

This prosperous and growing city of the great southwest country is a busy, busy place right now, notwithstanding all travel into and out of Mexico is entirely cut off. Streetcars still cross over into Juarez—in the day time—but there is very little travel save by the Mexicans who work in El Paso and live on the other side of the Rio Grande. They come and go as usual but the hundreds of tourists who pass through El Paso every day, save a few of the more venturesome stay on this side and look across the river.

Another instance of its being better to be on the outside looking in than it is to be on the inside looking out. One never knows what moment the Mexicans may change their attitude toward Americans. If that change should come with a party of American tourists on the other side they would be held there until another change came for better or worse. Therefore it's best, according to old timers here, to stay on this side of the border.

There is less excitement over the Mexican situation here than there is in the north and east.

Carranza hasn't a great many enthusiastic admirers among the people here. Most of them concede his honesty of purpose and his comparatively clean record but somehow doubt his ability to handle Mexico. And that too, in spite of the acknowledgement which they will volunteer that, aside from the upper corner of the state of Chihuahua, Mexico is now at peace. Every one seems to feel that the peace of Mexico is not permanent; that the trouble has not been eradicated and that the great problems of land distribution and government finance have not been solved.

The opinion here seems practically universal that while the Mexican government and the masses of the Mexican people are in abject poverty that the land is the richest on the face of the earth, and that before permanent peace comes the land must be restored to the people from whom it has been taken by the sword.

I talked today with a correspondent who traveled for eleven months with the Villa forces. He insists that Villa, though uneducated, is a man of wonderful native ability and force. He insists that Villa has the only solution for the Mexican troubles—taking the land from the few and giving it to the many, so that they may live. This correspondent was with the Pershing expedition and he is authority for the astounding information that traveling four hundred miles due south of Columbus, New Mexico, one is not off of the land of the fifth land owner.

Two American syndicates, Wm. R. Hearst, who has been so strong for armed intervention and Luis Terrasas own all the land, barring the Mormon settlement at Colonia Dublan, that lies in the vast section four hundred miles south of Columbus, N. Mexico.

When we can imagine four men owning the land between Columbus, Ohio and St. Louis, Missouri, then we can realize why the Mexican masses are blindly fighting.

In all that vast section too the correspondent told me, the natives plowed with wooden plows and harrowed with brush. There was not a pane of glass in a native house in all that rich domain and while the correspondent who was with Pershing command, says there may have been cook stoves, he never saw one. Revolution and the deprivations of war could scarcely make the wretched lot of the masses worse and discontent and a desire for better things drives them to exchange the misery of the present for the chance which conflict offers.

El Paso homes many men who left Mexico months ago. Left their mining properties, their timber lands and their cattle ranches and accumulated personal property, the result of years of labor and tremendous outlay of money to be confiscated by the revolutionists. Everything is gone except the real estate upon which they had hoped to gain a fortune. They have now ceased to worry. Their impatience has given way to resignation. They no longer expect to regain that which has been lost. If they ever succeed in being reimbursed it will be after order is restored in Mexico and a government established on a firm foundation. They know that.

These strong men who have endured the hardships, have waged the best years of their lives against fate and lost just as the shadows are beginning to lengthen are to be pitied in their quiet and uncomplaining acquiescence to the inevitable much more than if they complained because our government was not trying to do the impossible.

These men who have given their energy, their ability and the best years of their lives are not finding fault. They are not asking annexation or even armed intervention. They know conditions in Mexico. They know the cause of the trouble. It is only the big capitalists who send their dollars into Mexico demanding concessions out of all just proportion to their investment who complain because they have lost. The men who played the game on the level accept the terms of fortune's wheel philosophically.

One tall, dark skinned man, straight and strong, is one of the many conspicuous figures about the hotel lobby. Only the closest scrutiny would cause any one to do aught save take it for granted that he was a Mexican. Something in the commanding figure of the man commanded by attention. Notwithstanding his swarthy skin, his jet black hair and mustache, his huge sombrero and great cape thrown over his shoulders. I asked if that man was a Mexican, and was informed that he was a full blooded Scotchman now more than sixty years of age, who had gone to Mexico as a young man and lived among the Mexican people for forty years until he had acquired many of their mannerisms and dressed and acted like a Mexican. He was a big ranchman and cattle raiser. Revolutionists had taken all his property and he was now in comparative poverty. Yet he had no complaints to make and was apparently as happy and as contented as any man in the crowd which thronged about him.

That's the kind of a man—the man who has paid the full price and lost—who might be excused if he complained but that kind doesn't complain.

The men who have been trying to get it all for nothing are the ones who are stirring up all the agitation. People in this section have concluded to go on about their business content to let Mexico work out her own salvation—governmentally speaking—Texas, New Mexico and Arizona folks have concluded, not to become wrought up over the grievance of capitalists living hundreds of miles inland and some of them across the ocean, but to do the work which is at hand in their own vicinity. There is plenty of it. This whole section is a treasure house of mineral wealth and cattle ranches and farm lands are being carved out of the desert at an amazing rate.

No better proof of the determination to be found than the conditions at the American end of the two international bridges. Across the roadway is a barrier—a bar and huge pile of

President Wilson Swears Again To Uphold Federal Constitution

PRESIDENT WILSON TAKES OATH

Three of the men prominent in the taking of the oath of office by President Wilson are shown in the accompanying picture. They are the president himself, Chief Justice White, with hand uplifted administering the oath, and James D. Maher, chief clerk of the United States supreme court, whose prerogative it is to hold the Bible whereon the chief magistrate of the United States swears to uphold the constitution and laws of the country. The oath reads: I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States.

blocks and railroad ties—a company of soldiers is encamped at the end of each bridge. A sentinel marches monotonously back and forth from the barrier to the center of the bridge and another from the barrier to a point about fifty yards up on the American side. Street cars pass through—the track is clear but vehicles and pedestrians, except in exceptional cases, no longer pass over these bridges.

Mexico has been set apart and, until she finds herself, the United States is going forward with the great work of developing unhampered by becoming involved in the intricacies of a problem which is for Mexico to solve.

Ignorant and treacherous though they know them to be the sympathies of the Americans along the border is with the poor peons struggling to overcome conditions that have enslaved them for centuries. Perhaps a majority of the people in this section would favor the policing of Mexico until the Mexican people could secure their rights, but few believe that is possible because of the suspicion that years of oppression and unfair treatment has engendered.

At close range, the Mexican problem, so far as the United States is concerned, seems to be growing less complex. Every strategic point on the border is guarded by our soldiers, all of the railroad bridges, as far up as Sierra Blanca—90 miles to the east on the Southern Pacific railroad—are closely watched by the troops.

The "boys" exchange greetings with the passengers on each train that passes and wave a welcome and a thank you for each newspaper and magazine thrown off for them to read. The actual setting off of Mexico is being made effective by the vast army which guards the border and the property on the American side.

The intention of the Government to let Mexico and Mexicans severely alone and to see to it that they let out people and our property alone is clearly disclosed by troop movements.

The present Mexican policy seems no mystery down here and in addition is, apparently, satisfactory.

NEAR JUAREZ

(By American Press)

El Paso, Tex., March 8.—Surrender of Juarez was demanded in a message received by Carranza officials from a band of Villistas, 400 strong, reported south of Port Hancock. Carranza authorities made no answer to the demand, but a prompt exodus of Mexicans across the border into El Paso followed. A battle has been raging at Casas Grandes between General Alaraz's Villistas and a Carranza force under General Murgula. Reinforcements sent out from Juarez in a special train were attacked and compelled to turn back.

GOMEZ HELD BY FEDERALS

Head of Revolt and His Staff Are Made Prisoners.

Havana, March 8.—Announcement was made at the president's palace that a message had been received there saying that Jose Miguel Gomez, former president of Cuba, had been captured with his entire staff by Colonel Collazo, commander of the government troops.

The news of the capture of General Gomez came in a dispatch from the secretary of the interior, Colonel Aurelio Hevia, who is commanding the campaign in the province of Santa Clara.

The announcement was received with cheering and the waving of hats by President Menocal and the army officers gathered at the palace. All officers, soldiers and prominent civilians who later came to the palace also cheered the news.

The senate passed the bill which previously had passed the house authorizing the president to suspend constitutional guarantees. The bill now only needs the president's signature to become a law.

President Menocal recently was quoted as attributing the Cuban revolt to the "unbridled ambition" of General Gomez to overthrow him, but this was denied by General Gomez's friends. A few days ago it was stated that a Cuban judge had found a true bill against General Gomez on a charge of conspiracy and revolution and had fixed bail at $200,000.

SPARKS FROM THE BUCKEYE LEGISLATURE

What Ohio Solons Are Doing—Capital City Notes.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Columbus, O., March 8.—Although this was the day set for recess of the General Assembly until March 20, when it is to adjourn sine die, it was expected that both the House and the Senate would continue to work up until Saturday night, by which time the leaders hope to be ready to go home.

The $43,000,000 appropriation bill was the biggest measure before the assembly today. Explaining the increase of $600,000 over the original budget offered by Governor Cox, Chairman John Cowan of the House finance committee said this had been made necessary by reason of the high cost of living in the state institutions and in order to provide increased salaries for minor employees in such institutions.

The passage of the Sprague bill to appropriate $90,000 for the erection and maintenance of a state institution for the treatment and care of crippled children was on the Senate calendar for passage today. A commission headed by former Governor Willis recommended this appropriation and the location of the institution in Columbus.

Other building projects to be put through the General Assembly are: the erection of a governor's mansion, costing $125,000 and a bill creating a commission composed of the governor, adjutant general and president of the board of administration to purchase a site for a state office building in Columbus near the present state capitol building. If such a site is purchased, it is probable that the Wyandot building, purchased under the Willis administration, will be disposed of.

Headquarters of the campaign for a referendum on the Reynolds law granting the right of presidential suffrage to Ohio women will be opened in Columbus within the next few days. State Senator C. F. Harding will be in charge of the campaign for the anti-suffragists.

Governor Cox already has received a great many suggestions for an Ohio anthem some with music and some without which he is ready to turn over to a commission to be appointed to manage the contest for the best Ohio anthem and award a prize of $1,000 to the winner. The House yesterday adopted the resolution providing for the appointment of this commission and appropriating the prize money.

The roster of lobbyists in the present legislature looks like a roster of the House of Representatives in size. It contains the names of 127 lobbyists or one for each of the representatives. The railroad interests have the largest lobby. Although the session now is about ready to adjourn, the printed list of lobbyists has just been issued.

Dr. A. S. Cooley, state veterinarian, has announced that examinations for certificates to practice veterinary medicine will be held in Columbus April 16 and 17.

The Junior corn growing contest, formerly conducted under the state board of agriculture has been transferred to the extension department of Ohio State University, but will remain in charge of J. R. Clarke of Clark county, director.

FOR BETTER THAN NEW TIRES. FOR CHEAPER IN PRICE, TOO.

Washington, March 8.—More steps toward the possible acquisition by the government of the great shipbuilding interests of the country has been taken by the secretary of navy, it was stated at the navy department. All have been asked to furnish the department with a formal statement of the condition, capacity and possibility of their yards and each has promised to have the inventory in his hands by next Monday. The shipbuilders told the secretary that labor will be a big factor in speeding up building operations and that it will be necessary for the government to offer money inducements to workmen if they are to be secured in competition against yards building merchant vessels. Accordingly steps in this direction are contemplated by the department.

Washington, March 8.—The torpedo boat destroyer Cassini of the Mediterranean patrol service was torpedoed by a submarine. According to the official announcement, the vessel sank in two minutes, the powder magazine having exploded, and the captain, six other officers and 100 men of the crew perished.

The announcement adds: "According to the formal testimony of the survivors, who during the night sought to attain floating rafts, the shout of 'Approach, comrades!' could be heard. An instant later they perceived the dark outline of an enemy submarine, which fired a gun or machine gun shots and a shell, the latter touching a raft as it fell."

Captain Hansen's statement is amplified by a report received by the United States hydrographic office from the schooner W. H. Marston of San Francisco, which saw the same mirage and narrowly escaped the same fate.

BOMBS AND EXPLOSIVE FOUND IN POSSESSION OF ARRESTED GERMAN

Fritz Kolb, a young German, shown in the picture, was arrested by detectives from Captain Tunney's "bomb" squad of New York and by Hoboken policemen in the Commercial hotel at 212 River street, Hoboken. In his room two well made bombs were found complete except for the fuses and small amounts of trinitrotoluol and picric acid.

NEW DEBATE RULE ASSURED

(By American Press)
Washington, March 8.—The Democratic caucus voted unanimously to support a rule under which debate could be limited in the senate by a two thirds vote, recommended by a conference committee of ten, five representing each party, as the best way to solve the filibuster problem. The Republican senators voted 30 to 2 to support the same change.

The resolution embodying the proposed rule will be reported to the senate by Majority Leader Martin.

Senators LaFollette and Granger, Republicans, who were among the twelve who failed to sign the manifesto approving the armed neutrality bill, did not attend their party caucus. How much significance is to be attached to that fact neither Republican nor Democratic leaders could foretell, although the Democrats had a distinct impression that the appearance of the rule would be the signal for speeches by these two senators on armed neutrality. There were a few Democrats who had views different from the large majority, but while they may contribute a few speeches on the subject of changes in the rules no prolonged opposition is expected.

In the Democratic caucus there were more than forty senators, and with thirty Republicans who voted for the change, this makes about eight more than two-thirds of the senate. Several senators of both parties are absent from Washington or ill.

Senators Sherman of Illinois and France of Maryland are the two Republicans who cast the negative votes. Senator Sherman declared the Republicans would be put in the position of acceding to it because of the demand by President Wilson in his public statement on the defeat of the neutrality bill and in his conference with Democratic members of the conference committee. Senator France said he opposed any kind of cloture.

The resolution is changed only slightly from that virtually agreed upon by the conference committee of ten and which was approved by the senate rules committee several months ago. The most important change was the addition by the conferees of the provision that, except by unanimous consent, amendments will not be in order after the cloture has been ordered.

The announcement adds: "According to the formal testimony of the survivors, who during the night sought to attain floating rafts, the shout of 'Approach, comrades!' could be heard. An instant later they perceived the dark outline of an enemy submarine, which fired a gun or machine gun shots and a shell, the latter touching a raft as it fell."

San Francisco, March 8.—A mirage lured the American schooner Kona of this city to its destruction on Kangaroo island, south of Australia, according to a cablegram received from Captain A. Hansen, master of the craft. A shore line sometimes visible and sometimes invisible; headlands that retreated and advanced, remaining apparently the same distance from the ship, no matter which way she turned, destroyed the calculations of navigation and finally landed a bewildered captain and crew ashore. Captain Hansen's statement is amplified by a report received by the United States hydrographic office from the schooner W. H. Marston of San Francisco, which saw the same mirage and narrowly escaped the same fate.

Paris, March 8.—The torpedo boat destroyer Cassini of the Mediterranean patrol service was torpedoed by a submarine. According to the official announcement, the vessel sank in two minutes, the powder magazine having exploded, and the captain, six other officers and 100 men of the crew perished.
